Dan Williams, Psy.D., P.A.-C.

Dan Williams is employed as a Physician Assistant for Physicians Immediate Care in Machesney Park, Illinois. He has practiced medicine for twenty-eight years.

Dan received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Southern Illinois University and his Bachelor of Science degree from Touro College in New York City. It was there he became interested in forensic psychology. He went on to receive his Doctorate in Clinical Psychology from Forest Institute of Professional Psychology.

Dan has developed www.SurviveOutdoors.com, an internet-based company designed to educate professionals and lay people about wilderness medicine. The Survive Outdoors website receives approximately nine thousand unique visitors a day. He has consulted for CineNova Productions, Ltd. for the documentary on Alexander Selkirk, the original "Robinson Crusoe" which aired on the American Discovery Channel. Dan has appeared on Fox News where he discussed survival methods for hypothermia victims and stranded mountain climbers

Mr. Williams recently authored the book, Above His Shoulders – A True Account of Sexual Abuse, its Impact on Relationships, and the Emotional Survival and Healing. You may visit www.AboveHisShoulders.com to learn more about his story and desire to help others. Fifty percent of proceeds from book sales are donated to treatment centers for abused children.

Dan's interests are harbored in the outdoors and include canoeing, backpacking, and wildlife photography.
