

Urgent Care Association of America

Tracy Patterson, MBA, MHSA

Since 1997, Tracy Patterson has served NextCare as Urgent Care Director, Patient Services Director, and Chief Operating Officer and is currently NextCare's Executive Vice President and Chief Development Officer. With 14 years of health care experience in senior positions, her financial and operational expertise has been integral to NextCare's success and growth. Ms. Patterson is responsible for implementing new practice management systems and product lines, ensuring regulatory compliance and developing new facilities including site selection, lease negotiation, space planning, construction management, and asset acquisition.

In addition to her development of new urgent care clinics, she is responsible for identifying acquisition candidates and developing new partnerships and joint ventures. Currently, Ms. Patterson is completing the development of her 18th de novo urgent care site. Prior to joining NextCare in 1997 Ms. Patterson served at Mayo Clinic Arizona for six years. Ms. Patterson holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Accountancy, a Master's Degree in Business Administration and a Master's Degree in Health Science Administration, from Arizona State University.